

In the news

South Western Times
22 September 2011

Inspired by Dalyellup Estate's Luxxe model, the Lust display home is included in Summit Homes' new Seven Deadly Sins range.

'Wicked' range available

HOMEBUYERS looking to build might be tempted by an enticing new range of display homes on offer from Summit Homes.

Summit's Seven Deadly Sins series features seven promotional homes inspired by their most popular display models and are "wickedly" priced from $176,000.

All seven homes exceed the minimum six-star energy rating requirement with the Indulgence model returning the highest rating at 8.9 stars, which can save homebuyers up to 78 per cent off their heating and cooling costs.

"We have listened to our customers and responded with a series of designs that offer heavenly value for money," Summit Homes South West general manager David Hunt said.

"Maybe it's an indulgent weekend in the alfresco area with a steady flow of family and friends to entertain or perhaps parents yearn for a private retreat.

"Whatever homebuyers desire, we are excited to present the perfect designs to satisfy."

The four-bedroom, two-bathroom homes include a striking elevation, multiple living areas and a covered alfresco.

"All homes present wicked value as the total living area ranges from 235sq m to 253sq m and four of the designs offer huge outdoor living possibilities with more than 25sq m of covered area included," he said.

Visit www.sevendeadlysins.net.au or call 9722 0300.

Perth Metro: 9333 0888
Bunbury: 9722 0300
Busselton: 9753 7800

